History and Mission

acromion GmbH is a German headquartered, privately-owned, full-service, clinical CRO. We substantially support biotechnology, pharmaceutical, medical device and diagnostics companies in running their clinical trials. Since 2002, our customers and our team share a successful track record across all stages of clinical development. We enjoy the variety and mixture which comes with diverse indications, innovative treatment options, medical needs, and new technologies.

Highlights

We appreciate working with innovative and committed sponsors and embrace complex study protocols. As an extension of our customers' research unit, acromion's team is dedicated to driving projects forward. We grow from adding value to each step along the chain. With extensive professional experience and short lines of communication, we can manage upcoming challenges quickly and flexibly.

Our focus is oncology/hemato-oncology managing investigative sites in geographical Europe. acromion is proud of contributing to early development projects in CAR-T cell therapies.
